22nd Annual Leadership Training Institute

January 26 – 30, 2009

Learn Strategies for:
Tobacco/Alcohol/Drugs
Sportsmanship
Community Service
Leadership
Citizenship

Completion of this program and a follow up action plan will result in the attainment of 40 PDP's. Three (3) graduate credits can also be earned through Endicott College.

Sponsored, facilitated and directed by the MIAA Student Services Department. Featuring national trainers, Kevin Ringhofer and Marty Harding.

Nationally, over ten million students are involved in athletics and school activities. Through athletic and activity participation these students become role models, for better or worse, in their schools and communities. Therefore school activities provide an excellent opportunity to set positive standards for participants, friends, families and fans.

The MIAA Leadership Training Institute provides an outstanding training forum to address these opportunities. For over 20 years, the MIAA has been training education professionals to enhance alcohol, tobacco and other drug (ATOD) and sportsmanship programming in their schools.

Ideal for Administrators, Teachers,
Athletic Directors, Advisors, Coaches and Wellness/Health Coordinators

Member schools are invited to nominate a candidate for the 2009 institute. Thirty individuals will be selected for the five-day residential program. The MIAA will cover the cost of training, educational materials, hotel and meals. All we ask is for your week-long commitment.

The 2009 Institute will provide an annual opportunity for member schools to showcase their successes, learn from other schools' experiences and expand their core of volunteer leaders.

PLEASE NOTE

- Individuals are required to stay at a local hotel arranged by the MIAA
- All sessions are mandatory and will be held at the MIAA office or local hotel

Participants will learn to:

- Reduce ATOD use through school activities
- Design a successful pre-season meeting

"The MIAA Leadership Institute was the most rewarding workshop I have ever attended. I've been an educator for 25 years. I've attended many training sessions over that time period, but the Leadership Institute gave me more specific hands-on skills than all the other training combined."

Stu Fyfe, Health Teacher and Coach
Wixon Middle School/Nauset Regional High School

"As an educator for the past thirty years, I can honestly say that this was the nicest I've ever been treated in a professional role. It was also an amazingly inspiring week of activities, ideas, strategies, and just plain fun. The sharing with other professionals was so rewarding."

Sylvia Stepien, Health/Physical Education Teacher
Millbury Memorial Jr./Sr. High School

"I left the conference energized, hopeful and with a ton of practical and applicable strategies for developing a most needed wellness program within my school."

Jessica Downey, Assistant Principal
Wellesley Middle School

"As a first year athletic director, the Leadership Training Program was an invaluable experience and a tremendous networking tool. The group of educators, athletic directors, administrators, support staff, as well as civic and social workers, provided a broad range of ideas and methodology in discussing each wellness topic that was presented."

Michael Denise, Athletic Director
Braintree High School
